

SPORTING A PATH TO AN INCLUSIVE AND GREENER WORLD

PROJECT NUMBER: 2024-2-EL02-KA220-YOU-000286170

Introducing SPIN

We are excited to launch SPIN – Sporting a Path to an Inclusive and Greener World, an Erasmus+ KA220-YOU cooperation partnership dedicated to empowering young people through sport, sustainability, and social inclusion.

SPIN combines Education Through Sport (ETS) methodologies with sustainability education in order to encourage young people to become active contributors to a greener, more inclusive, and more socially responsible Europe. Through innovative learning approaches, the project aims to strengthen youth participation, promote environmental awareness, and foster leadership, teamwork, and critical thinking skills.

The project brings together organizations from Greece, Serbia, Hungary, Sweden, and Cyprus, creating a strong international partnership focused on youth empowerment, sustainability, and non-formal education.

Project Goals

- Promoting Social Inclusion Through Sport
Using sport as a universal language to encourage participation, cooperation, equality, and inclusion among young people from diverse backgrounds, including those with fewer opportunities.
- Raising Awareness on Sustainability and Climate Action
Educating youth about sustainability, environmental responsibility, and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) through interactive and sport-based educational activities.
- Empowering Young People Through Non-Formal Education
Developing leadership, teamwork, communication, and critical thinking skills through workshops, collaborative activities, and learning experiences.
- Supporting Innovation in Youth Work
Providing youth workers and educators with innovative tools and methodologies that combine sport and sustainability education.
- Encouraging Active Participation and Community Engagement
Motivating young people to become active citizens and changemakers in their local communities and beyond.

Our Activities

- Development of Educational Resources

The partnership will create innovative educational materials, including:

- A sustainability-focused educational toolkit
- A digital serious board game
- An interactive e-learning platform
- Sports and Sustainability Workshops

Interactive workshops and activities will combine physical activity with learning about sustainability, inclusion, and social responsibility.

- Sports and Sustainability Hackathons
- Young people will collaborate in creative and problem-solving activities addressing environmental and social challenges.

- Local Testing Phases

Each partner country will organize pilot activities and local initiatives to test and improve the educational materials and methodologies.

- Dissemination and Multiplier Events

The project results will be shared with youth workers, educators, organizations, and stakeholders across Europe to maximize impact and sustainability.
